

Do you have any concerns about animal research at the University and/or how it is being conducted in your area?

A key part of our 'culture of care' in research with animals is that we listen to your concerns and take action to ensure the welfare of all our animals and staff. To this end, you can contact any of the following people to discuss your concerns:

- Deputy Director/Line manager/Group Leader/Facility Manager
- NACWO
- NVS
- Director for Governance and Welfare
- Establishment Licence Holder

Make sure you are clear of the University Biomedical Services 'Whistle Blowing' process and contact details:

You can call our confidential helpline 07595 436486 and leave a message anonymously in voicemail or text for the attention of the Licence Manager.

"Your concerns are our concerns and anything, however minor it may seem, matters"
