Are you new to rodent dissection or taking samples?

This introductory course is ideal for newer technicians or those who are just starting to take samples for scientific purposes.

No prior knowledge is needed but the student should have access to a basic dissection kit and be able to practice techniques in the workplace of anatomy, dissection and sampling.

What's included?

- Understanding the importance of necropsy
- Learning about tools and equipment
- An introduction to anatomy and physiology
- A step by step dissection guide
- Explanation of terminology and definitions
- Dissection practical assessment
- CPD points awarded for attendance
