This Train the Trainer course is designed to train and develop the skills of designated trainers and those involved in the professional development of staff. Helping to prepare trainers to deliver high standard training for individuals working towards assessment. The online learning spans 1 week followed by live sessions the following week involving, self-lead learning, group discussions and group work looking at learning styles, possible barriers to effective training and delivering bespoke training to meet the needs of an individual.

By the end of this course you will be capable of:

- Organising and running an on the job training session of practical skills.
- Understanding the importance of structured training and be able to highlight areas needing further training or practice.
- Understanding the importance of remaining professional, approachable, patient, calm and in control of a training session.

Please come prepared to join in, offer opinions and take part in group scenario sessions.
